2007 - 2008

Yearbook

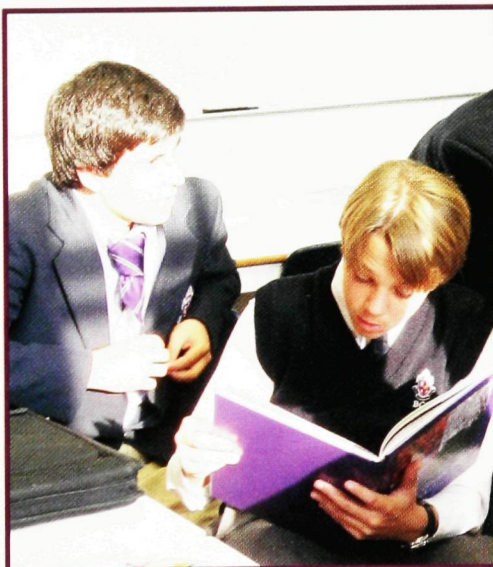

Mrs. K. Rae, Megan H., Kieran M., Julian O., Georgie H., Farshad H. Mrs. J. Carey
Missing: Alex (Bob) N., AJ F., Adrien M.

Welcome to the BCS Yearbook of 2007-08. We were starting from scratch this year with brand new advisors and students and it has been quite a learning curve for all of us. This book never would have gotten off the ground and into print if it hadn't been for an incredible amount of teamwork. The students involved in putting this together were a dedicated group and were instrumental in setting up the format and making design decisions. So many decisions! (Mr. Crowther never warned us!) We know we've made some changes - change can be a good thing. We hope you will enjoy what we've put together. It has been (mostly) a labour of love. A special thanks to Megan and Kieran for all their extra work!

Well what can I say? This was one of the best experiences in my life and I won't forget anybody. Mexicanos los quiero un buen los voy a extrañar. Goodbyes will always hurt.

- Miguel.

This year has been one of the greatest in my life. I have had a great time and met people that I will never forget. All the people I'm going to miss so much, being with you guys everyday, but I guess it had to end, and chiki I'm going to miss you so much. Roommate (Farshad) take care have fun and hope we see each other soon! It's really hard to say goodbye but everything that has a start has to come to an end, it's hard 'cause it takes a second to say hi, but it takes forever to say goodbye.

- Ricardo Orestano.

In the morning:

Bob: Come on boys, clear out, you're late again.

Francois: I'm awake errrrrrrrzzzzzzzz

Andrew: Being a student in Grier North is the best in my life with an awesome roommate called Vaughan NOT !.

Vaughan: Get off me Andrew!

During the afternoon:

Arthur knocks at the door: Sir, please can you let me into the house, I forgot my gating book.

Kevin rushes out to go and work on the sound for the play. How did he get in? The house is locked until after Crease.

After School:

Who's on duty tonight sir? Oooh, the Tickmeister (Mr Gilman).

Davey: Can you unlock my room again please sir?

Adrien: I'll be spending the weekend break with Monty sir.

Prep:

Jeremy: No, I will NOT open Tuck until AFTER prep!

Alex wants to work on a project with a friend, in the house, instead of going to School House Prep. He asks different teachers, one after the other, for permission until he finds one who says yes.

Where is Jeff, has anybody seen him? A: He's working in his room - still ! (He's so quiet we don't know he's there.)

Andrew: Can I take a shower?

Lights Out:

Farshad: Can I have a weekend leave? Oh is that the time sir? Yes Sir !! I'll be straight to bed sir !! I just have to brush my teeth. And I'm waiting for a phone call sir.

Jun Sung is listening to music through his headphones, rocking his bunk against the wall clunk clunk - clunk.

LIGHTS OUT BOYS NOW !

Geordie: Mr Nadeau, we love you..

GOODNIGHT BOYS !

Ricardo: Eh? What?

After lights out:

Farshad: Just going to the washroom sir..

Jae Keaun is at his desk, possibly working. He seems to think nobody knows but his roommate, who isn't in bed either.

Ricardo: Sorry sir, goodnight sir!

Carlos wanders out of the washroom half asleep.

Bob wanders into Francois' and Alex's room for a visit.

Our 7th formers from Grier South, Fraser and Mike, who have unofficial honorary Grier North membership, visit to watch TV.

Very late:

Kevin has stopped playing his guitar and is now playing computer games on the widescreen TV in the common room.

Saturday morning:

Geordie: I don't think I should play Rugby on Fridays any more.

Jun Sung: Have you seen my black basketball?

Farshad: Can I go to Montreal?

Sunday Morning:

Nic: Ehhhhhhh. Yawnnnn. Come on boys, I don't want you in here, go out and get some air.

Sunday; Room inspection:

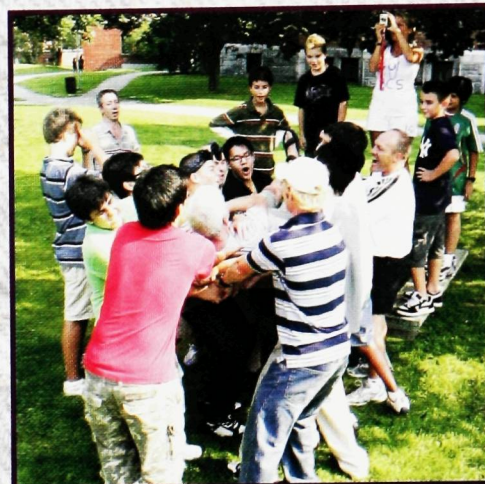

James: Qu'est-ce qu'il a dit ?

Ricardo A: But my room's really tidy Nic. You can see the floor now Nic.

Hermann: It's all Ricardo's stuff. Except that. Oh, and that. Yes and that pile there is mine. And the stuff under the desk.

Arthur: It's all Jae's stuff !

Jae: It's all Arthur's stuff !

Grier North is a multi-cultural adventure. Having members from all around the world is just awesome. Every night is like having a Buffet des Continents in our own house! With Korean, Mexican, Jamaican, French and even Bermudian food!

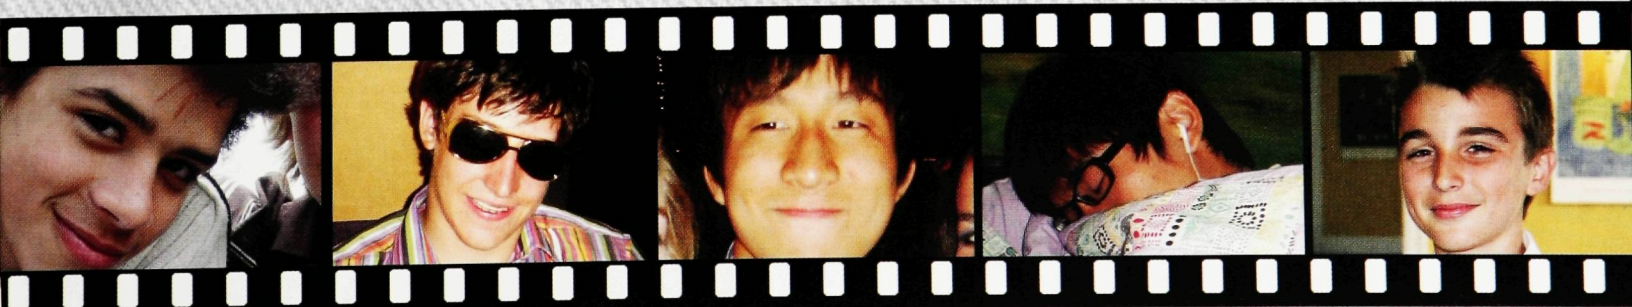

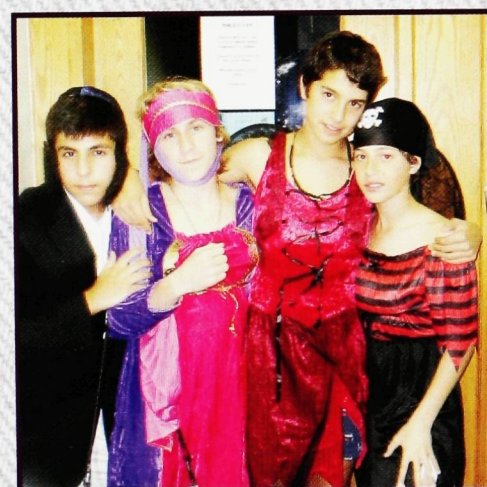

It is not only about the food though. As a Mexican boarding student I never thought I would make close friends from all around the world, which I may never see again, but the BCS experience is never to be forgotten.

I don't see the boys of this house as friends; I see them as brothers...

- Daniel.

I am going to miss a lot and I will never forget this experience at BCS. It has been one of the best in my life. I will miss all the people that I know from here...

- Carlos.

Tradition has it that Ross House Girls are tough to beat. 2007-2008 has been another exceptional year for Ross Girls; once again we have stepped up in all facets of the school environment.

Form 7

Sophie: The only Ross "Lifer" who is finally graduating. We will certainly miss this all around sports star and her involvements throughout the years in Cadets, Carnival, other activities (too many to name) and keeping the Ross spirit going.

Laura: Our perfect prefect, you'll either find her swimming or wearing her sexy cycling shorts for Peru. A great travelling companion, team-mate and probably one of the nicest people you will ever meet.

Anne: From acting in the school play to singing, dancing and modeling, this future super star has lots of talent.

Form 6

Sarah-Maud: Our French connection and by far one of our favourite poulettes. This smiling babe leaves us to pursue other goals.

Form 5

Odrè: Playing hockey, to travelling the globe, to her amazing art skills. These skills have contributed greatly over the years.

Brit: Our blond-gone-brunette but still a blond at heart is always there for support. This wild and free-spirited girl is back for another year.

Yasemin: She's either on her way to Chapman, with her boyfriend Dylan, or telling jokes. No matter what, she will always make you smile.

Marilou: Captain of the junior rugby team and probably the only girl who is capable of taking on ALL of the boys in the school.

Stephanie: This new Ross Girl moved from Gillard to join the Ross Girls' family. She's a fanatic about riding! See you at the 2012 Olympic Games!

Jennifer: Smells like eau de chlorine, to add to the mix of all the Ross girls.

Form 4

Laura: Getting a concussion didn't stop her from getting involved. You'll always find her talking with someone or watching Gossip Girl on her computer.

Marie: Our official gum chewer and star soccer player!

Anna-Eve: Our other French connection as well as our other favourite poulette. She's back for at least one more year.

Hannah: Another fanatic about horses. She volunteers her time to tutor others at a local elementary school and is always willing to give a helping hand.

Megan: She has probably read more books than all the girls in Ross combined. This caring red-head is back for another exciting year.

Form 2

Much can be said about our six Form 2 girls, who consistently make the effort list, are involved in the school plays and are all members of numerous sports teams. Alyssa, Stephanie, Hannah, Emilie, Maxine and Angie have so much great potential and will follow in the footsteps of our current leaders.

Mrs. Holland: Of course we cannot forget our loving houseparent/second mother, Mrs. Holland, who has over the years made our Ross experience the best ever! She is always supportive and if ever we have a problem she is there for us. She always has great ideas!

Vincent arrives at school as soon as possible to get an early start on his shenanigans.
Ryan H. takes on the long walk from Glass to Ross, never showing a silly smile.
Jakob runs from the gym, fools around, runs back to Ross and races to his car to make sure he doesn't miss his next practice.

Chris R. walks around Ross looking for people to hug.

Antoine runs into Ross making his usual discrete entrance and questions everyone about the where-abouts of Arnaud.

Brandon M. sits in his corner listening to his I-pod and giggling to himself, contemplating that his six-pack will turn into an 8-pack any day.

Kieran studies on a bench for his upcoming geography/history contest.

Chris H. cheers on Kieran for his next competition.

Xavier sits with Charles growing taller and taller.

Charles walks around trying to find someone to play-fight with in Ross.

Sacha walks in and tries to remember his alphabetical combination.

Monty sits chilling with his girlfriends.

Tanguy walks in wearing shorts, no wait those are his pants, and a t-shirt, oh wait, that's his dress shirt.

James walks around asking everyone, "how you doin?"

Nick Bradley contemplates the next Star Wars episode with Nathaniel.

Nathaniel contemplates the next Star Wars episode with Nick Bradley.

Felix walks around disturbing the peace joining Antoine in his search for Arnaud.

Ryan C. sits meditating with his coffee and laughs discretely at the people who walk by him.

John walks from China to Ross every morning in his #1, before realising it's actually Sunday.

Patrick walks around looking for his girlfriend after their latest argument.

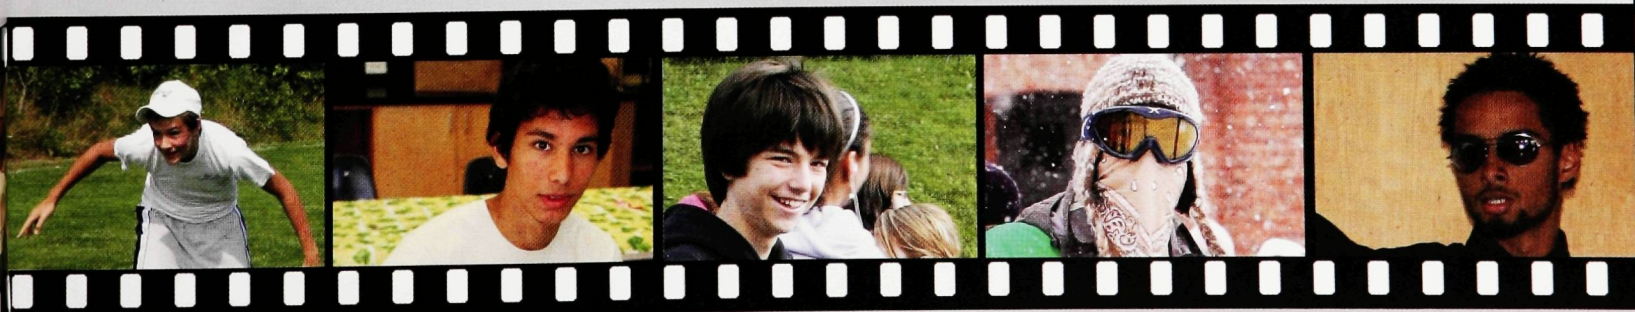

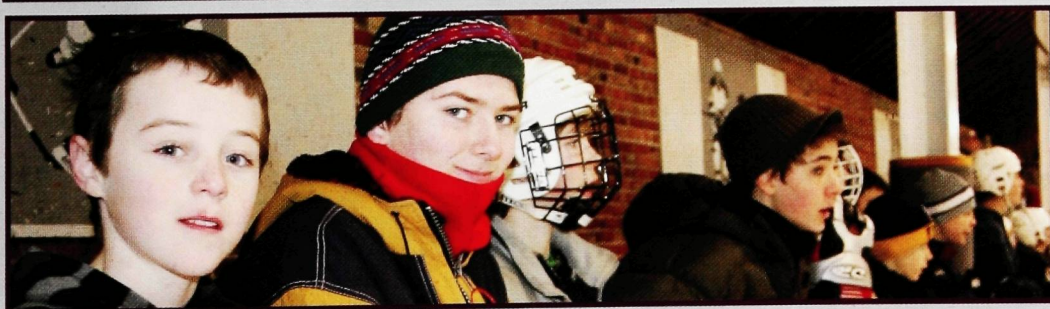

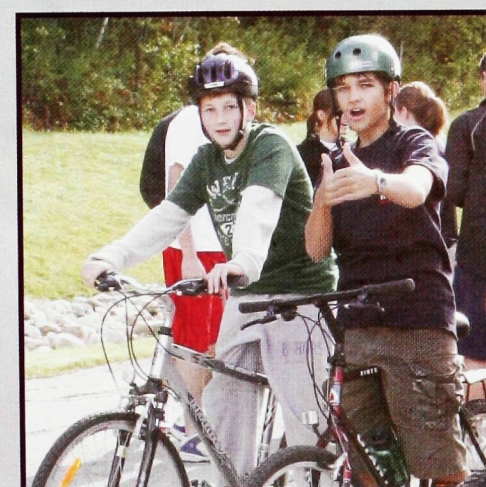

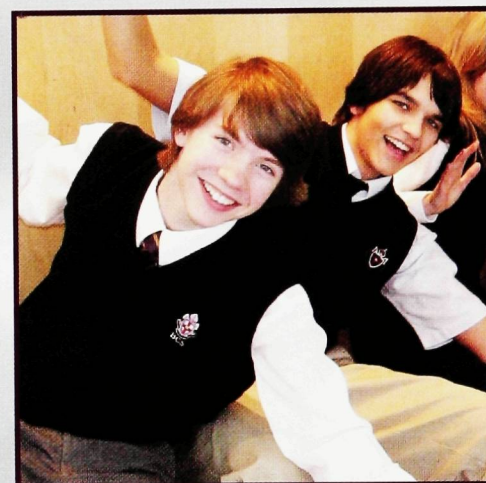

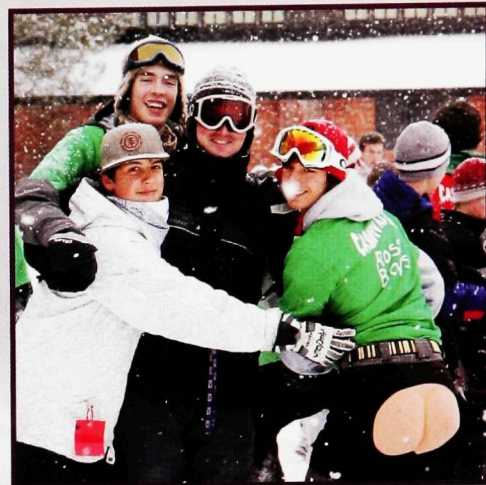

Brandon W. walks around Ross House, dribbling his basketball and reciting his lines for the next play.

Nick Bouchard tries to remember the latest Star Wars facts he learnt in class the day before and joins in with Nick Bradley and Nathaniel's conversation.

Arnaud (DK) finally arrives at school much to the delight of his harem, and answers all the questions as to whether or not he lost his license for the third time.

David walks in as the bell rings, looking good as always.

Mr. Madsen walks into Chapel and greets everyone with a big smile, before shaking his head at the loud welcome given to him by the first row.

First Row: M.P.Bertrand-Guillemette, S.P.Cammal, S.Altamirano Ochoa, A.Kim, C.Werner, Y-J.Kang

Hey school, this is the Gillard Gossip Girl, Book 1. Before we get started, let us give you the low down on the girls in the house. First and foremost you gotta know where the power sits. Nath is our houseparent, and conveniently, an amazing lie detector. She's going to be famous for it. But although it seems that Nath is the top-of-the-chain-super-head-houseparent of Gillard, we all know that really, Nath is controlled by little beautiful blonde Lili. We've got Ms Carey, Ms Giles, Ms McGurk and our beloved BU, Gab, who help make Gillard the ridiculous greatness it is, while keeping all of us 35 girls in check.

Chapter 1: The bottom floor

In our common room we have a great big TV; but for some reason Lyla is always staring at her computer screen while she sits in front of it. Not knowing what's on is no excuse for Lyla, because we've got Sophie in our house - a real-live human TV Guide. Tatyana mostly sneaks around the house, being politely quiet, which is probably why she makes the great stolen-item-recoverer that she is. Savannah on the other hand can always be found laughing and squealing and having fun, while lending her Sims games to best friend Yu-Jin, and Sophie. Aline came to Gillard late, but hasn't failed to shock us all with her oh-so-open and fearless conversation topics in the common room. Jae-Min scored this year with her very own room, and she's lovin' every bit of it. Anais has completely changed looks since the beginning of the year, from shy little sister to quite the hot-tamale! As far as cute and sweet go, though, little Alexis and Rebecca win awards with flying colors! Speaking of awards, Stephanie, who's a multi-time big winner at horse shows, also lives downstairs except for the weekends when she leaves her room and her roommate Rachel, one of the nicest people you'll meet, and a total sports-goer. And well, poor Catherine was a super athlete at the beginning of the year until her super-sad injury that, alongside James' injury, landed them the name of "Crippled Couple", but it's okay she'll get better. Speaking of couples, Jessica gets whisked away every weekend by her prince charming, Patrick. Mariana is always happy and always laughs at your jokes, even if they're really bad (thanks Mariana!). Angie's closet is constantly raided; chances are if you compliment a Gillard girl's shirt - it's Angie's.

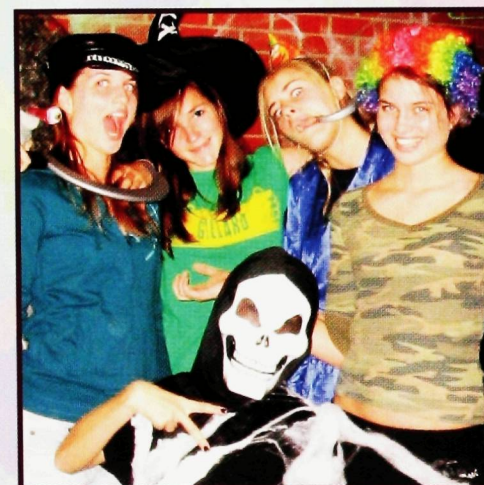

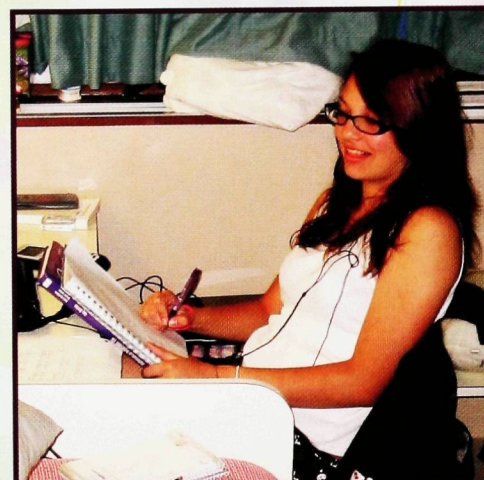

Chapter 2: Upstairs

Olivia parties smart and outrageous and barely ever gets caught. She has it down to a science! The same can't quite be said about Sophany. Though we love her dearly, she's not very secretive. Jaime may look small and innocent, but you don't want to tick her off because that girl can kick butt!! Crystal is, and will forever, be known as, "Miss Jean Brodie in Her Prime", except Crystal will always be in her prime! You can always find Paige in Ali's room practising for the next Pub Night - sounding amazing, as usual. Stella's the belle of the ball and Gillard could never be the same without her quirky sense of humour, and loud, outgoing love. Gabi will most likely guarantee you that her phone won't break, then throw it in the air and watch it shatter on the ground. Sofia we know can be loud all day, but is as quiet as a mouse in her Gillard room which I suppose suits her tiny little size! Jojo is our German connection, and she's always with Sophie making the two of them a total blonde-bombshell-duo! Camille is usually off making a name for herself as a dancer, so remember the name girls. She's going to be famous! Carlotta and MS are completely opposite, but have equally amazing hair!! But for real, they're totally sweet. Although Vashti lives upstairs, she can be heard from all points around the house and if she wants, we could hear her from outside, and probably the School House as well. Ali is energetic and always yelling about something, whether it's cleptos, or babies, twins or the latest new rule from Mr. Marino, she's yelling about it. Julie is usually sleeping or telling Ali to be quiet.

Chapter 3: The Annex

Heidi is seconds away from taking over the universe - seriously. She can sometimes be found filling in for Mme. Simard on the piano for Chapel. Agatha is amazing for her awesome art skills in drawing as well as music. Tomomi has the biggest room in BCS history and can usually be found there studying hard. She's another quiet one with a shy smile. MP is one of the final, lasting prefects and planning to marry the Bachelor one day. Her smile, helpfulness and generosity of spirit will probably help her nab him. The Annex is lucky to host the hottest and coolest BU, Gab.

Well, that's all for now school. I hope you enjoyed Gillard as the central house for gossip news, we'll be back next year for Book 2. Love Ya!
Gillard Gossip Girl xoxo

Glass house is more than just another girls' house on campus. It is a home. All of our beautiful 35 + 2 exchange girls had something to contribute this year, making our house the best house on campus (in our opinion) and winners of the Winter Carnival for the 6th year in a row! We had two house dinners, a Delta Brunch, Secret Santa, a joint dinner with Smith, an open house that made everyone on campus envious, and SOOOO much more!

We are:

Dorothée, our resident creator of the BCS magazine.

Alexa Q. and Deanza who filled our first floor with the sound of Caribbean music.

Amy and Vicky who were always there for math help.

Lydia, whose lack of work ethic resulted in break dancing.

Min Ah who ended up being Lydia's target when she got a little restless.

Wendy, who had a closet full of food, Costco style.

Danyin, who was the DDR master/champion

Megumi, who could put Picasso himself out of business

Sammy & Sarah, who were our athletic farm girls

Kailey, Mayowa, Morgan and Angel who added spice to the house with their reign of midnight mischief. (YOUUUU!)

Hotaru, whose continuous laughter brought joy to the top floor, and almost got us caught during our escapades.

Annika and Antoinette, who are always attracting the boys (and girls). Beautiful Germans...

Alexa G. who has an invisible leash around her bf's neck

Asrah and Farah, who were the twins of Glass house, and our in-home English teachers.

Pauline whose shoulder was always there for you to lean on, and great advice.

Jennifer who never lived down the beginning of the year introduction.

Grace and Hayley who appear from time to time with CUTLERY!!!

Garance with her bright blue gorgeous cowboy boots.

Jessica, whose lost DVDs kept the house occupied for a whole month.

Akayla, who was the baby of the house

Misha, who brought California fashion to little old Lennoxville

Alex G.R., who loved to listen to music loudly

Danielle, who had Double the reasons to love her

Claire, who had the best sarcastic sense of humor.

Elean, who could fix any computer glitch that might have occurred.

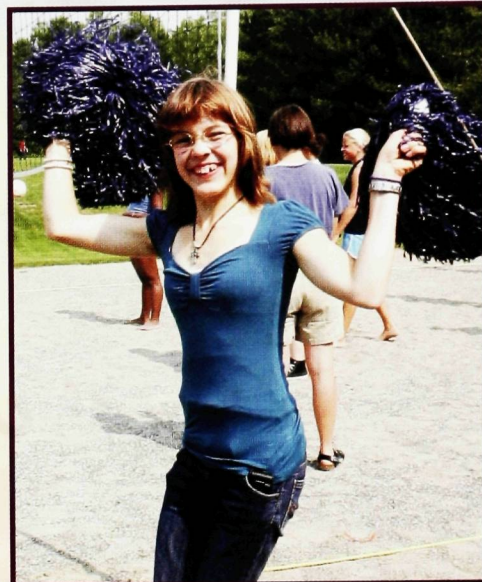

Sarah B. Beckham's niece herself, who graced our house with amazing athletic ability. (and she's pretty too)

Iris, who had a different design of funky nail polish everyday.

Tish, our South African who had an everlasting tan.

Libby, our lovely Australian who brought the thunder from Down Under.

and last but not least, Julie: who always baked us goodies for our birthdays and was our own Mother Goose.

Chapman has seen yet another set of peculiar characters go through its doors. Do things ever change? Let us have a look at what happened after we left.

After graduating Jason was unable to fulfill his dream of swimming across the world after suffering brain damage from chlorine inhalation.

After graduating, Logan was elected prime minister of Canada but was forced to resign because of constant ambushes carried out by various feminist groups.

After becoming a successful hockey player, Simon 'Tiny' Teed retired and joined his brother in Australia where they got lost in the outback vegetation.

After Marc graduated, he joined a computer hacking group planning to take over the world, but was driven crazy by his constant fear of being attacked by balloons.

After getting top marks for writing quotes on the board, Brandon got 100% on his math 514 exam. He then began his life long dream of promoting Ms. His math class to the rest of the world.

After he graduated, Dylan C-A-T invented the reverse Michael Jackson procedure so that he could finally fulfill his dream of becoming black.

Joe B started a successful punk band with Dylan after he became black and proved everyone who thought he wouldn't be successful wrong by becoming one of the richest people in the world.

Dylan (Uncle Runkle) got married to Auntie Grace and lived happily ever after in an apartment above Dominos, thus satisfying his cravings.

'Counter Strike' Joe H missed his ride to graduation after Patrick locked him out of the Chapman bus. We think he is still there but we never returned to find out.

After Peter graduated he started a shoe company called Air Wangs, after that he grew to become seven feet tall, bought a green costume and claimed to be Godzilla.

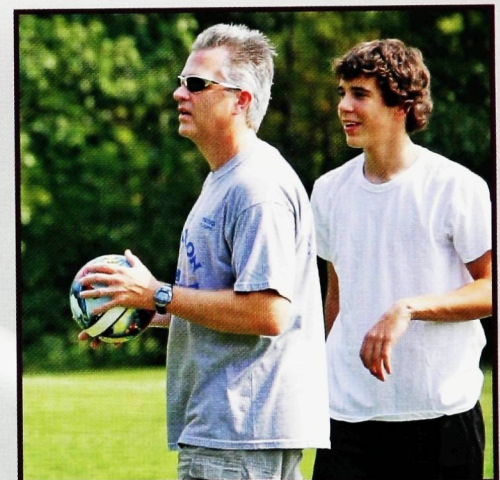

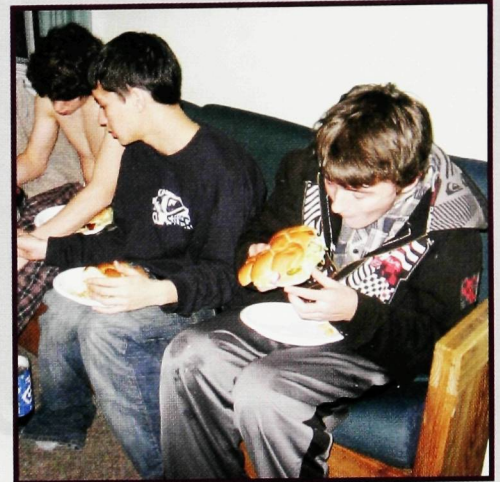

After designing the logo for Peter's shoe company and the Schitt Hawks, the production of diet coke and Reeses was stopped. Patrick went into withdrawal and was sent to a rehab centre.

Chance joined Patrick in the rehab centre after Shark was discontinued. Since then he has been nursed back to health on reruns by Dr Pepper.

After Eric graduated, he built a huge house out of noodles so he could eat it. He is only half a Chapman boy but that's still twice the height of most Chapman boys.

Jordan slept through graduation and never got his diploma. Zzz

After we all graduated Mr. D started up a restaurant called Chapman BBQ, where they only served hamburgers and Pepsi (and veggie burgers for Dylan). There is a special on steak at -150C.

Round Square India Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Evans accompanied Asrah Mohammad, Farah Mohammad, Alexa Gelles, Logan Roberge and Jennifer Harding Marlin to India for the 2007 Round Square Conference held at Daly College in Indore.

Before arriving in Indore, the BCS group joined students and staff from South Africa, Peru, Australia and England on a pre-conference tour to Delhi, Agra, Orcha and Bhopal. They spent a week together visiting temples, medieval cities and astonishing forts. They attended puppet shows, festivals, dinners, and even went white water rafting. The second week was spent at Daly College, a school with a phenomenal campus and wonderful spirit. The conference theme was "Our World, One Family". Keynote speakers presented ideas from three distinct spheres: spiritual, environmental and economic. Students examined ideas further in challenging small group discussions in Baraza groups.

India as a country defies description. The two weeks were certainly not without challenges (ask Asrah), but everyone who was on the trip came home determined to go back and see more of this remarkable place.

Having lost half our crew before leaving because of silly paper matters, Ms. Giles, Pauline, Camille and myself (Iris) left for the Lima airport on February 3rd. We really didn't know what to expect from this trip, and it happened to be what we made it. During the pre-tour, spent in mountains and villages, we discovered what the real Peru was. The best memory was in Ollantaytambo, when we had a 3-hours-long waterfight with local people. It was great fun. We saw Machu Picchu on the last day and then flew back from Cusco to Lima for the Round Square Regional Conference of Americas 2008. The conference theme was "The Glass Half-Full" and out of 4 days, 2 were spent doing community services. We met people from all over the continent and created ever-lasting friendships, but helping out in places like Chincha or Pampóna was truly unforgettable. For twelve days, we practiced our Spanish, experienced new food, met people and saw some of the most beautiful scenery in the world. Yet what Peruvians taught us is that no matter how penniless you are, happiness is always up to you. This is what we brought back. A special thank you to Ms. Giles who stepped in at the last moment to accompany us and to Ms. Frizzle who did all the pre-trip arrangements.

Mountain Day

September 9

We're faced with two choices at the beginning of the mountain; the easy path, (a longer, winding, semi-paved road up), and the hard route, (with rocks to scale, ropes to hold on to, and narrow paths to navigate), for the more adventurous among us. Surprisingly, the decision doesn't favour either route; it's a pretty even division. Not surprisingly, we got one major thing wrong; neither route is easy.

Whether you're jogging up the steep inclines (like Mr. Kelso, who garnered his fair share of open mouths and wide-eyed stares), curling your toes around the edges of rocks and telling yourself that under no circumstances should you look down, or skipping up with friends, having settled on an official and serious water-break at every fifth rock, one thing's for sure: you're going to be tired.

Some of us hit that point a little too far from the end for our liking, but we keep going anyway, (even without the encouragement of our iPods, which Mr. Liverpool had a suspiciously larger collection of at the end of the morning), and miraculously, (I swear, angels chorused when I first saw it), we reach the top.

We don't spend long up there, just enough to find a seat in the grass or on a chair, eat a quick lunch, and cool off in the chilly mountain air. Pictures are taken, high-fives exchanged, we're all relieved, and we're all a little more proud of ourselves than we thought we would be.

Soon enough, though, it's time to head back down the mountain. There's only one path this time, and most of us try to ski down the gravel on our sneakers. Inevitably, we fall, giggling and dusty, and we're helped up by a teacher, a friend or even someone we don't know. And that's when it hits you; going up the mountain, you didn't really have time to think about it, but if this is what the next months are holding for you- challenges, points you think you can't tackle, points you know you can, new sights, new sounds and new friends- then maybe Mr. Evans had a point.

Maybe it won't be a bad year at all.

Terry Fox Run

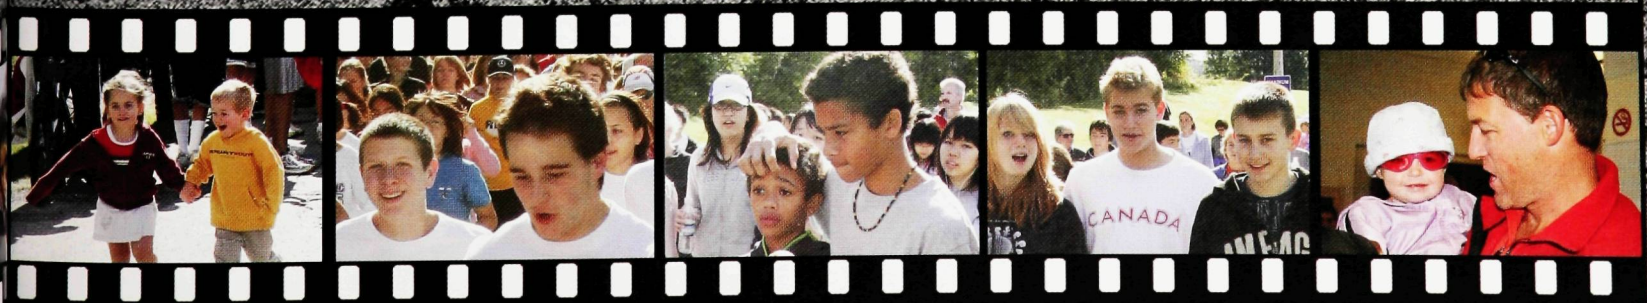

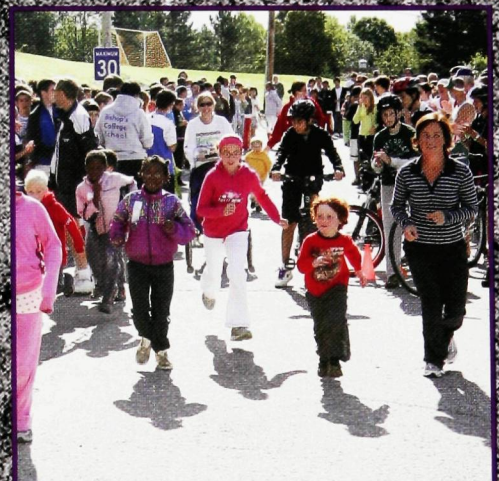

September 16

On Sunday, September 16th, students, teachers, staff and townsfolk alike, walked, ran or biked for a cause. The sky threatened rain but did not dampen the spirits of the participants.

The annual Terry Fox run, organized by and held at BCS, drew a large crowd. People from around and within the school gathered to show support for cancer research, in memory of Canadian hero and cancer patient, Terry Fox.

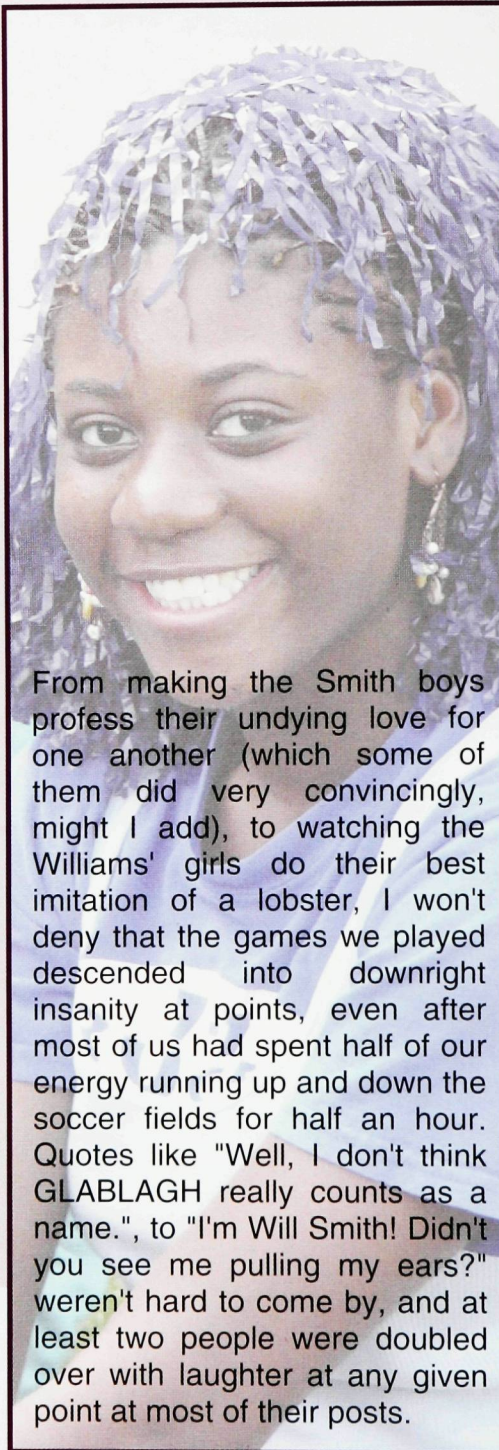

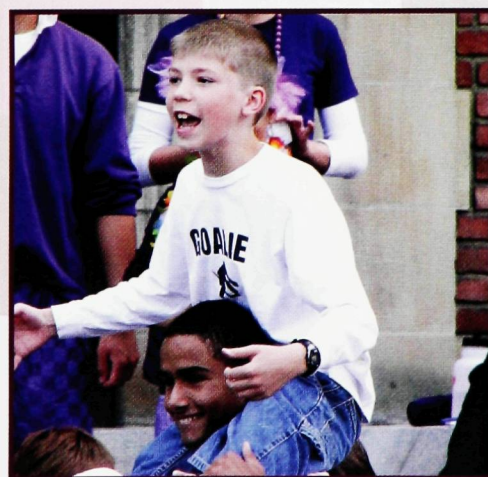

Upon crossing the finishing line, people gasped sighs of relief or panted out of exhaustion. But surely, inside, they felt the true spirit of charity. BCS was able to raise at least $8,000.00 thanks to the wonderful generosity of all who participated.

Spirit Day

September 6

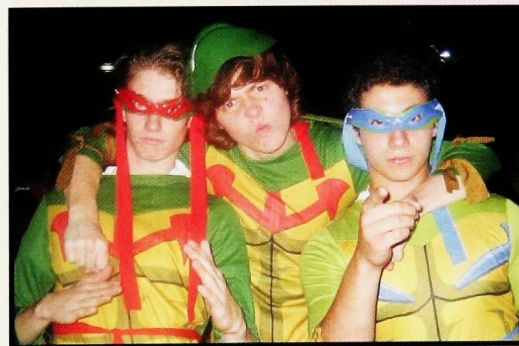

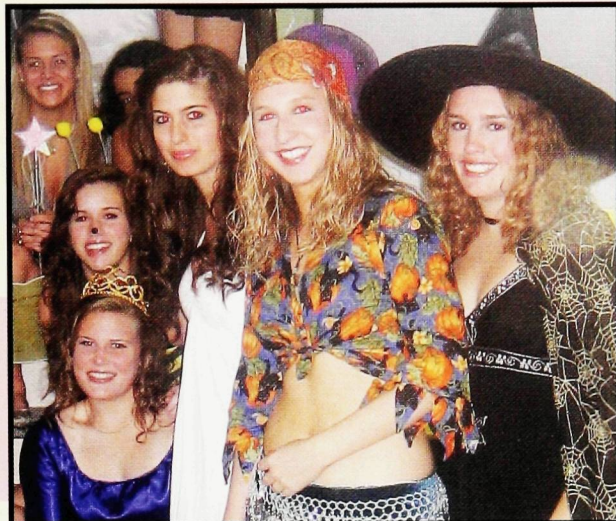

From making the Smith boys profess their undying love for one another (which some of them did very convincingly, might I add), to watching the Williams' girls do their best imitation of a lobster, I won't deny that the games we played descended into downright insanity at points, even after most of us had spent half of our energy running up and down the soccer fields for half an hour. Quotes like "Well, I don't think GLABLAGH really counts as a name.", to "I'm Will Smith! Didn't you see me pulling my ears?" weren't hard to come by, and at least two people were doubled over with laughter at any given point at most of their posts.

Peru

Our trip to Peru was a once-in-a-lifetime adventure. We, six students and two teachers, from the perspective of a cyclist and a trekker, were able to see a country that is vastly different than Canada. It is one thing to be a passenger in a car viewing the countrys scenery, but quite another to bike through little villages acknowledging the people, smelling the smells, and tasting the tastes, which added a completely different dynamic to our experience. The cycling was challenging, riding through deserts, along cliffs, in the rain and hail, from long steep inclines, to small hills at altitude that had everyone in the group gasping for breath. In total we managed to cycle 500 km, over half of which was done at over 2500 metres above sea level. We all learned more about our own personal physical and mental limits as well as how to deal with our classmates and team-mates in both joyful and stressful situations, both of which we were able to take away from our time in Peru.

When we were not biking we passed the time playing cards, dodging giant bees, hanging out in hot springs, and hanging out with our awesome guide Saul. Healey kept us entertained with prodding comments and eating the local wildlife, while Heidis often hard demeanour softened considerably when she realized that even she was not immune to the effects of travellers diarrhea. Jason made the discovery that ice cream would not boost ones IQ, no matter how much he ate; while Nico made great friends with some of Perus more prickly inhabitants - the cacti. While our time together in Peru was enjoyable many of us did fall ill at one point or another. Megumi sampled several IV drips throughout our trip, while Laura, Jason, and Nico all tried to console her by sharing a similar gastrointestinal health concern.

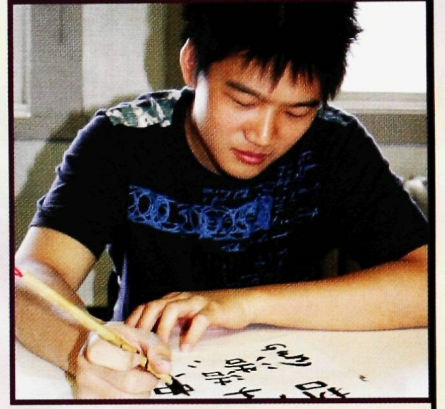

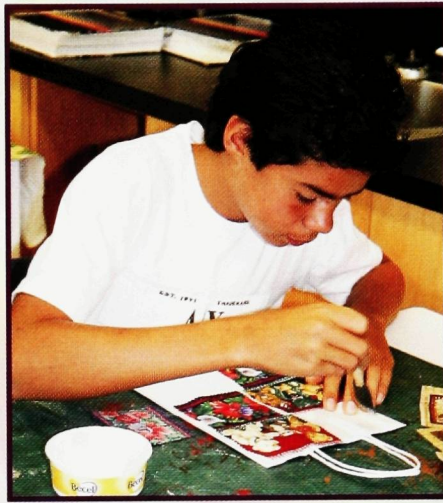

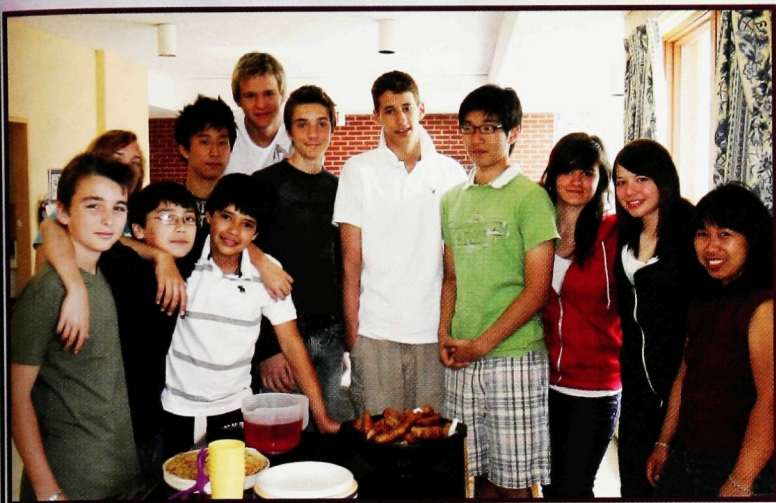

With this experience, we return to Canada with a very different view of the world. We have witnessed and experienced desserts, remote islands with unique animal life, the world-famous Nazca Lines; seen the deepest canyon in the world, the Colca Canyon; been on the world's highest elevated lake - Lake Titicaca (insert joke here); trudged along Macchu Picchu and even climbed the incredibly difficult and lesser-known adjacent Wayna Picchu. In addition to our trip, the many foods that we tasted were extraordinary. Over our seventeen days we didn't have a bad meal in spite of the very inexpensive cost; and we managed to give our taste buds new experiences such as guinea pig and alpaca.

We traveled by bus, plane, train, taxi, bike-taxi, water taxi, trekking, and of course cycling. The beauty and wonder of Peru left us in awe, and the company of our teammates and the tour guides always managed to keep us smiling and inspired. All in all, this was truly a memorable and well-spent March Break.

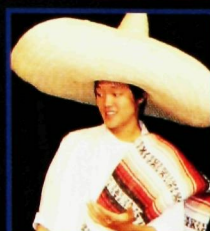

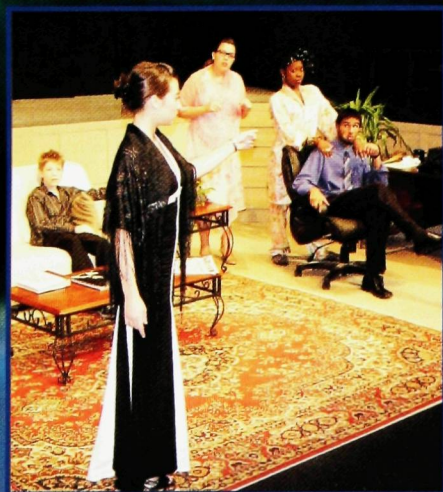

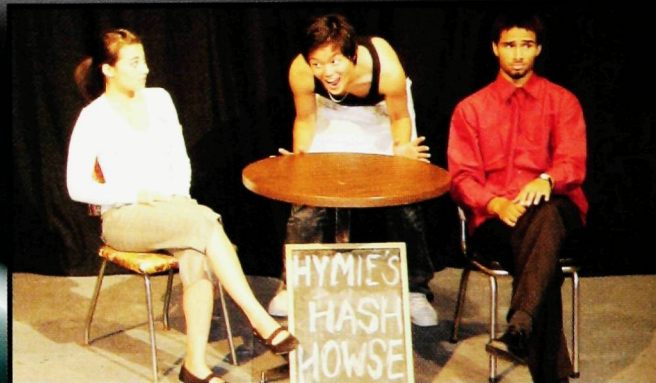

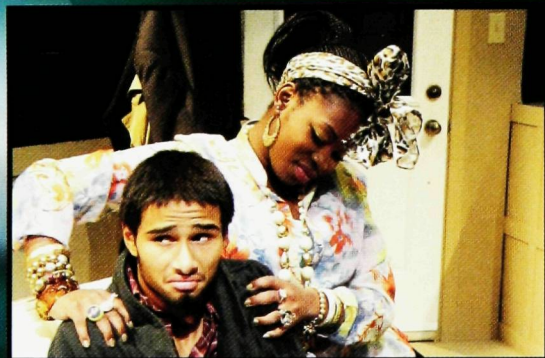

Group: Mr. Sean Healey, Mr. Dan Pfliger, Laura Logan-Chesney, Heidi Lee, Megumi Sakai, Jason Yin, Dominic Jansen, and Alex Cunningham.

Cadet Annual Review

May 16

■ Brigadier-General J.G.J.C. Barabe, CD

My first year here at BCS, I saw cadets in the same light that most of you do today. I would grind my teeth every time I was told to stand still, or to stop talking. I despised fatigues, and the repetitive nature of cadets itself made me want to sprint off the field. I could honestly say that I disliked cadets. Little did I know how much I would learn as a result of my involvement in the program. In retrospect, it was completely worth the grief. Although the story could be told by 142 cadet majors before me, I am not here to speak about that. I am here to talk about today.

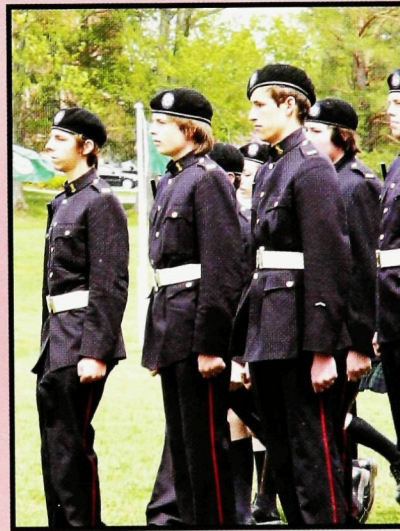

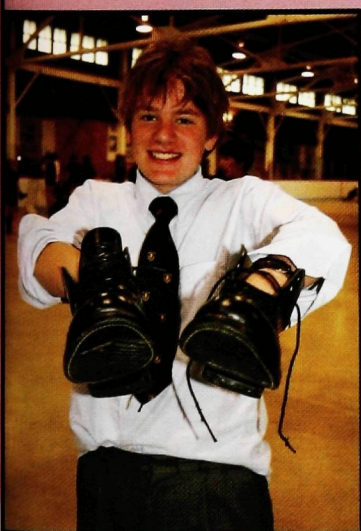

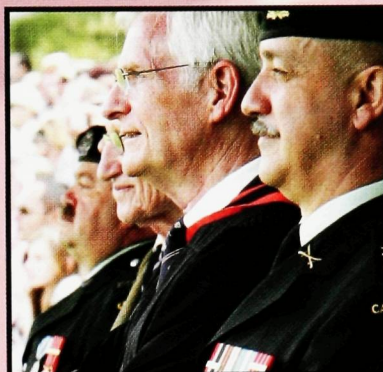

We've been working since September in preparation for today. For 8 months, many of you have been learning to march, halt, mark time, stand at attention, at ease, turn to the right, to the left and about, all for the first time. And it's all about today, it's been clear from the start. To teach someone to march is easy, but to teach someone why they are marching is hard. It's something they must discover themselves. I've been asked why we do cadets more than once every Thursday. I was asked by little Vincent, by Daniel, and by my personal favourite, Gonzalo, and by many more. Sometimes I answered abruptly: because you have to. But usually, I mentioned discipline, teamwork, and patience - qualities that everyone will hopefully develop throughout their lives.

Today is what you make it. Today you need discipline, teamwork, and patience and I am personally settling for nothing short of my best.

After inspecting the corps in 2005, General Andrew Leslie said it was the best he'd ever inspected. This man, known to speak his mind, has inspected over 150 Cadet Corps across Canada. Ours was the best!

You are much better than you think. Be confident and sure of yourselves, and promise to do your best. Nobody has asked for anything more than your best.

Patrick Allen

Nickname: Pat
Home Country: Canada
Activities involved in: Soccer, Basketball, Golf, Band, Tall Ships 08, 514, Dining Hall, Wardens Ambition: High ranking role in some pro sports organization. Preferably Baseball.
Probable Destiny: Couch sports fan.
Lasting Memories: Jess of course, is there even another person in the school? Senior Basketball, playoffs, finals vs. Massey Vanier. Packed gym, big win. Awesome. Mr. Jackson, 'nuff said. 514 Math Class. Hair Straightening lol. Tons of other stuff and not enough room.
Favourite Quote: "Everyone makes mistakes. The trick is to make mistakes when nobody is looking."
 "If everything seems to be going well, you have obviously overlooked something."

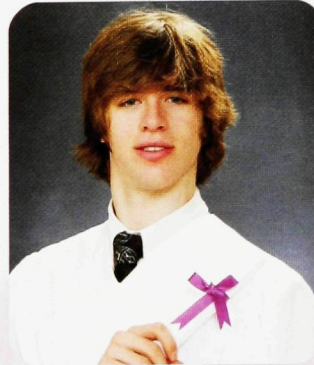

Olivia Anassis

Home Country: Canada
Lasting Memories:
 It has been a fantastic year. In this short year I've gotten the chance to meet friends that will last a lifetime: AS, JM, PM, KT, TAB, VR, MD, WB, AUJ, LD, ST, CW, MSM, JM, GH, S.J.L, SN, MEXICO, BABES UNITED, and everyone else, thank you so much. I'll never forget our adventures; thank God these walls can't speak :)
 Thank you thank you thank you, you've all made this year truly marvelous.
 P.S. OJAP 4Life

Sophie Arseneault-Drapeau

Home Country: South Africa
Activities: House Captain, Inscape, Community Service, Players Club(usher), Dining Hall committee,
Lasting Memories: This year has been an interesting year... I met some great people and I can't wait to come back next year and see all of you guys in our last year of high school. I also have to mention someone really really special in my life so far. So Jojo, I am so sad that you are not coming back next year but remember that you will always be in my heart. But this end of the year doesn't mean that we will never see each other again, it only means that we are going on different paths and I hope that one day our paths will meet again! Chicken n'cheese I love you so much, haha. This is to everyone that I hang out a lot with: I love you guys and I will miss the people that are not coming back and the others see you next year for another AMAZING year.

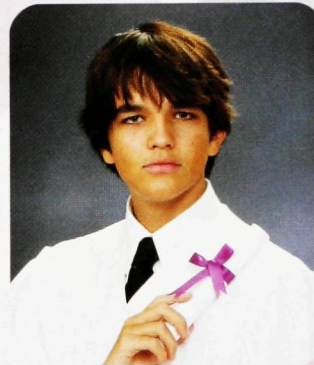

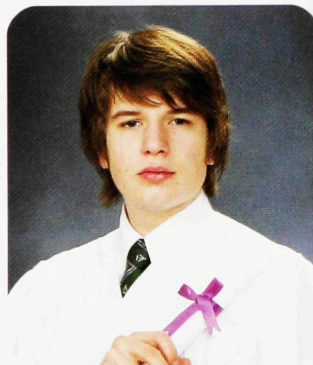

Patrick Beaudry

Ambition: Be Happy
Probable Destiny: Something Weird but nice
Lasting Memories:
 After two years of hard work, sport and fun, I realize that I'm leaving BCS and a part of my life behind. I hope it is not yet time to say goodbye to everyone though, and I would like to thank my Smith family and the roommates who've lived with me. I would also like to Remercier the French Crew which was also at my sides for those two years.
 Sarah, tu as transformé mon année et j'ai passé de merveilleux moments avec toi!

Alexander Becker

Nickname: Becker
Country: Germany
What I want to say: I had 2 great years at BCS thanks to all my friends, AJB (darkness), CH, JJP, OA, AS, DT, MK, ST, VR, MD, MLeR BoC (the daywalker), CM, BL, JB, S.J.L, G.F.M, THE LENNY, THE FAMS, and everyone else.

Home Country: St. Kitts & Nevis
Activities involved in: Choir, Amnesty, Aids Awareness, BCS Student Magazine, House Captain, Players Club
Ambition: To become a world renowned author
Probable Destiny: Becoming a Lawyer
Lasting Memories: Cadet Camp and Carnival.
Favourite Moments--> This year has been amazing for me. I can't forget to thank all my friends throughout the school.. Especially to Crystal, Johanna and Sophie. Chicken and Cheese nights will always be remembered and to Grace my best summer school friend, and craziest companion; all those times with the black and white days. Those days when ever I felt like going home, you guys were always there for me, and I loved that. I'll see you all next year. xoxox.
Favourite Quote: "Success doesn't come to you... you go to it." - Anonymous

Aaron J. Bullard

Nickname: Darkness
Home Country: Grand Bahamas
What I want to say: A year full of surprises - what can I say? Ready for next year? Thx to all the teachers and friends. CH, DT, AB, CM, MM, GE, MK, JY, JJP, JWT, Lee, WL, PB, BoC, KI, AM, XL, HS, BH, Jae-W, Lenneth, Carlotta, VH, Hotaru, TB, Lil Sis, the ex. students, the sponge people and everyone else - thanks for a chill year.
Lasting Memories: Coming late to creases, breakfast check-in and everything else haha, Math class with Mr. MacDonald and our slowly disappearing class, Sr. Rugby games and especially practices, playing on the white team in IHA, winning Carnival, French class with Mme. Omelette and our 9 person class, Xbox in McNaughton and late nights in Smith.
Favourite Quote: It's 18 pounds! Man, I'm gated.

Ryan Comeau

Nickname: Comeau

Angel Atomate

When I arrived at BCS, I was 11 years old and the second youngest person in the whole school. Even though I was young, I was ready to take on the challenge of being independant. I was known as Jimmy or Armine's little sister and I tried very hard to make a name for myself, which I have succeeded in doing. Life at BCS introduced me to alot of new experiences, both good and bad, but these experiences made me who I am today. Being a lifer has allowed me to gain insight on this school and how it operates. Looking at the school now, I can see things that I couldn't when I was 11. Though this school has changed dramatically, in ways some of us might not like, these changes have given me the ability to stand for what I believe in while still adapting to the thingsli may not like or agree with. In doing so, I will be able to look back at my time here and happily say that I would not change a thing. When I graduate, I will have spent a third of my life here. And in that time, I have learned a lot and met a lot of great friends who I will cherish forever.

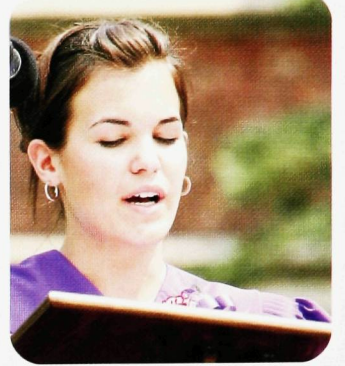

Sarah Bernard

I still don't realize that I've been here for six years already, time flies. But what I do realize is how much I've changed and learned over these past years. BCS really taught me a lot about myself and how everything is possible in some way. My years here also taught me about the people around me and to understand who they really are. What I will remember though, is all the great people I met and the spirit. Somehow, cadets, chapel, teachers and all the routine stuff we HAVE to do will also stay in my mind, although at the moment we have to do them, they don't seem too great. But hey, life is not easy and BCS is just that much harder, but somehow I made it through with a positive end and survived! There were definitely tough moments, but that's when you realize who you are and what you are made of. If you do good actions you might not get rewarded, life is just unfair like that, but one day you will forget and then something good will happen. But more importantly, whether you win or lose, you always have to come back stronger and more determined, that is one part of what I learned at BCS.

Jae Won Cheong

Whenever I tell my friends that I have been at BCS for six years, I feel like I have done something impossible in life, just like turning a stone into gold. Although six years may seem to be extremely long period of time, time really flew by at BCS. I still remember my first year at BCS as a second former; I was a little Korean boy who could hardly speak in English. Being a timid kid who was afraid of changes in life, I have changed into someone who is always willing to challenge myself. BCS had simply provided me with unlimited challenges and they allowed me to build a strong character. Looking back to the past six years, I have realized that without these difficult challenges and tons of opportunities I wouldnt have become who I am now. It was truly worthwhile to spend one third of my life at this amazing place. Thanks! BCS

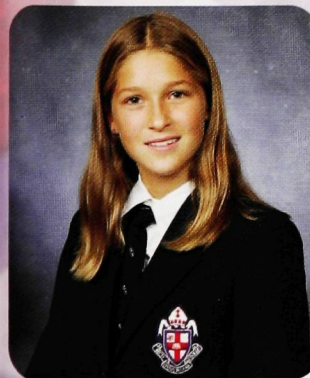

Megumi Sakai

WOW! Already 6 years!! I can't believe I have spent one third of my life at BCS. To say the least, it has been the most emotional six years I have had from the beginning till the end. I remember, the first day when I arrived at BCS. I spoke NO English, I knew nobody at school and everyday was full of fear. All I knew how to do was smile, answer peoples questions with a yes/no and communicate through body languages. I never thought of staying at BCS longer than a week what with suffering, not having friends who I could have a conversation in a language I knew, and being stuck in a place where I didn't even know. Just imagine if you spoke only English and your teacher gave you a textbook full of Chinese words. It was even harder for me at BCS since they had many mandatory activities which were all new to me. I was one of the students who always complained and whined, however whether if it was good/ bad everything I was involved in was worth doing. There were so many opportunities at BCS and I took that advantage to give myself a challenge. I tried really hard and set up high goals in every little thing I did. In 2nd form, for example, I never thought of playing soccer or b-ball, making friends with teachers or finish reading a thick English book. I thought that becoming a prefect was about as likely as becoming president of the United States. Today, I have lots of friends that I speak to in English, I'm involved in first team sports and I was honored to be chosen as a prefect this year. All these I thought of as impossible goals. But everything was possible, and I managed to succeed, by turning all of my failures into lessons and taking advantage of everything BCS has to offer.

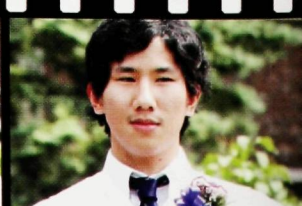

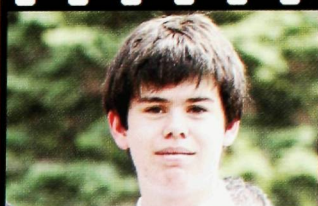

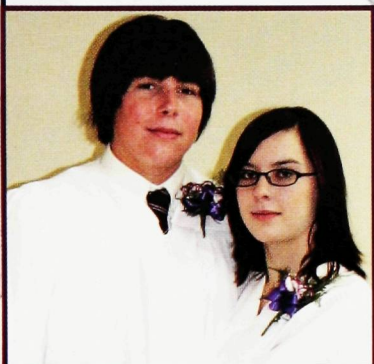

Sophie O'Reilly

I have been at BCS since 2nd form; I am what they refer to as a lifer. I knew from the moment that I entered this school that I would be here until 7th form, it was predetermined, just as it had been for many more before me. I looked forward to it with anticipation. I looked forward to the 6 years that lay ahead of me. I wanted to leave my legacy here, have my name painted on the walls and engraved on the trophies. I knew I would become friends with people from all around the world. I knew what crease I would do for each season for the next six years. I have done all of this and I am proud to leave BCS having accomplished so many things. I am looking forward to unplanned, spontaneous and unmapped events that I will call my life. I've enjoyed my time here but I am ready to leave. Through the events that have derived over the years, I have become the person I am today. For this, I have none other to thank than BCS.

Prefects

When it came to the prefects, this year was definitely a collection of some of the most interesting characters- whether we were artists, rugby stars, swimming champions or physics geniuses, chances were that one member of our mismatched little group had a trademark something that set them apart. Of course, we all found that we had plenty in common too (most obviously a passion for devouring free cookies in under 15 minutes). From hiking up mountains for hours, to waking up early for breakfast check-in (in retrospect, we're not sure which one was harder) to send-ins tomorrow at 8 in front of the prefect room we all had reasons for our daily collapses on the student-center couches (until we had our cookies, then we were usually fine). We think we can all say that like pretty much everything else in BCS, this job has been tiring and sometimes wayyy busier than we'd like- but in the end, a total blast. So from the Prefects of 2007-2008, thanks for everything, it's been awesome!

Here's a little something about everyone:

Sarah is our local scientist/rugby champion/head prefect/saxophonist/cadet/pretty much everything else you can be at this school. And in between all of it, she manages to squeeze in being an awesome girl on top of it. Like all of us, Sarah does a lot. Unlike all of us, though, she does it with an abnormal level of optimism- she's never down, and always there to help. And though she says she started out here as just a tomboy from Thetford Mines, she's shown pretty much everyone that she is a lot more than that. Bonne chance next year, Sarah, we're all going to miss you!!

If you don't know who Marie-Pierre (MP) is at BCS, I will tell you, YOU don't belong to BCS. BCS without MP is like peanut butter jelly sandwich without peanut butter jelly, calculus class without Mr. Macdonald, and prefects without JaeWon (JK)! If you are to see the school yearbook, her cute, smiley face will appear on every page; MP in a huge purple football helmet, MP in her sexy scuba diving suit, etc. I will never forget her innocent smile, her peculiar talent for dancing, her humorous jokes, and just MP as a whole. We will miss you!

Quiet but funny, Jae Won is tall, very tall (and skinny). But yet very athletic. He's one of those guys that you don't see often hanging out during school, but when the show is on, he's ON (Remember that funky punky talent show night? I do!). Actually, Jae Won is a perfect guy. He's smart, tall, athletic, (sy), funny, polite, stylish, deep voice, honest and very very smart (but not the nerd type if you know what I mean). He just excels in everything he touches! Jae Won, you are just a perfect / prefect ladies man!

Heidi is ingenious, genuine, and uses big words. This is how a person who truly knows Heidi would describe her. On the outside she looks like she would straight arm you for absolutely no reason. If you scratch a little harder, she still gives you the impression that you make her life a living nightmare, BUT if you dig really, really hard you will figure out that she is a great person, who's curious about how a human's reproductive system works, who would share her ridiculously spicy Korean noodles with you any day. PS: for all of those people who don't know her very well I advise you to become friends with her soon, because she WILL take over the world.

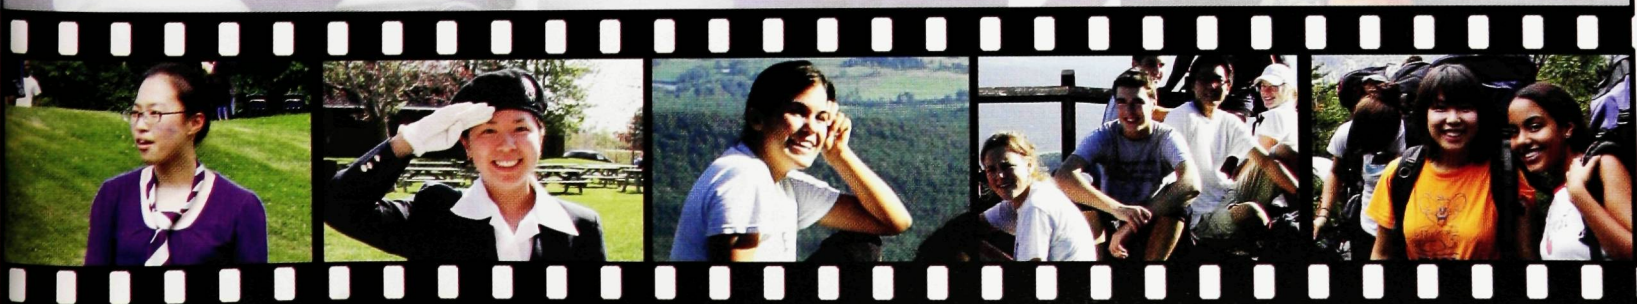

Laura's the type of person that, in the middle of writing an english essay with a biology book balanced open on her lap and her hair still wet from a swimming tournament (that she's probably won) will stop all of it to say, "Oh hey, how are you?" And actually be interested in what you're saying. She can cheer you up in two different languages, and bike through Peru with altitude sickness. She's the prefect most likely to give away a cookie (which is NO SMALL THING!) and having already conquered BCS and the mean streets of Lennoxville, she's off to South Africa next year! GUUTEN LUCK, LAURA!!! We love you!!!

Asrah is a young Jamaican English teacher for everyone (the irony is that people ask her questions more often than they ask their real English teacher). She has been always so generous and such a sweet person. Whenever people have a problem, they don't hesitate to go to her room for her help (she is ALREADY qualified in her future career, English AND psychology). She is the perfect example of a dedicated friend and is very kind, smart, cheerful and always there to help anyone at anytime. She is selfless, never thinks about herself, but of others and is always there when you need her. She puts everyone in front of herself, is hardworking, bubbly and unique in everyway.

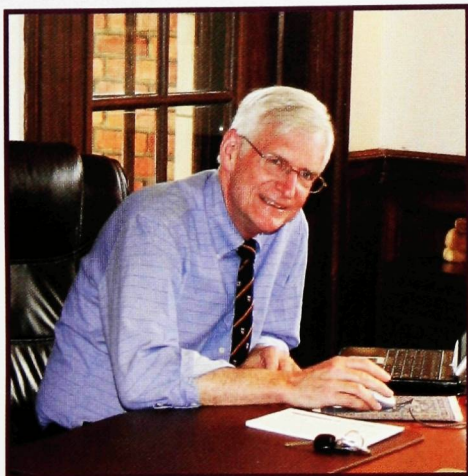

Logan, a huge brainer, a great arguer, and a future leading politician or a businessman, was perhaps the smartest and the most logically thinking person of this year's Prefect roster. Although he does not seem like a muscular, athletic guy, he secretly SHINES in many individual sports he plays (How do I know this? Perhaps because he reminds everyone everyday, JK). Anyway, you'll be great wherever you go (just watch out for some of your truly lovely comments) and hopefully well see you as a prominent politician or a prosperous businessman in the near future!

Megumi:
10 cups of pure cuteness,
A ton of brains (especially in Calculus, thanks Megu!),
20 spoons of giggly (and the loudest) laughter,
A touch of tall (but only a touch, J),
Dozens of warm hugs (just when you need it most),
One wide dazzling smile (that is very contagious),
A dash of inner beast (quite a few dashes actually as I witnessed over and over),
And finally a heaping spoonful of hottie!
Mix well and voila! You have one awesome friend, student, athlete and person! I love you Gumi-Bear!

The Last Word

Lewis Evans, Headmaster

So, here we are, at the end.

We're finished. Done. It's time to move on.

For you students, this BCS instalment began 285 days ago on September 4th. I know this because I now keep a journal. I write in it every night before I go to sleep, and, believe me, many of you are mentioned! I started to read it from the beginning of the year. I stopped reading by the end of September; it was too detailed, too long, and it was too much fun to read. I didn't have the time to go through the almost 285 pages from then to now!

It's full of the problems that come along every day: small problems, large problems, unsolved problems, festering problems, and every now and then, a solution! It's full of successes too, victories and defeats, happy moments, thoughtful moments, sad moments, and, so many moments when you, as a school, have made us proud. You as a school ...

I'm asked from time to time what people should say when asked what BCS is, and I have a bunch of answers. One of my early favourites goes like this: Tell them it's one of the oldest schools in Canada. Tell them it's a small school on a big campus, that it draws students from all around the world, that it provides an excellent academic program,

that it offers wonderful artistic and athletic opportunities,

that it teaches moral and social responsibility, and that it has the oldest and just possibly the best Cadet Corps in Canada.

Tell them it's the best school in the country.

I like that answer. I like it but it's not quite right. Yes, we have about 250 students on a campus of about 350 acres so it is a small school on a big campus. And yes, you students do come far all over the world and bring a fantastic richness to our lives in Lennoxville. And yes, our academics are strong, rigorous, and that is proven by the fact that everyone of you in Form VII has been accepted into university next year. And yes, we have Inscape and the bands and choir and Players Club, and we have sports for everyone, whether or not we win. And we have Amnesty and AIDS Awareness and local concerns like the Cornerstone Food Bank. And oh yes, we have the #2 BCS Cadet Corps which is awesome. It's all true, but it's not what BCS is!

You are the school. You are BCS.

A more recent answer goes like this:

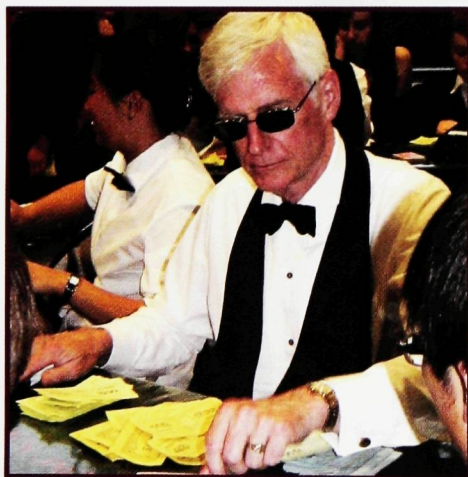

Tell them BCS is a place where shy people are safe to develop their confidence;

where idle people have the chance to get involved;

where there are challenges for the taking up if you choose to do so;

where failure can be a starting point;

where perfection doesn't exist;

I like that better because it is about you. You create the environment where your fellow students can develop their confidence even if it's something as simple as getting up and making an announcement in Chapel for the first time. You are more involved here than you would be anywhere else, even those of you who are minimalists who do only the bare essentials. Because at BCS, the minimum is a lot: classes, Creases and Cadets are a load that people in other schools would balk at. You do - many of you - take up challenges: world-class challenges like the Ondaatje Endeavour, academic challenges like making the Effort List, athletic and artistic challenges where you perform beyond your own expectations. And you bounce back after failure. I am constantly buoyed by the resilience of youth but you don't just do this for yourself. You create an environment where it's easy for your fellow students to accept defeat and to grow beyond it. And God knows, you aren't perfect. And that's the point, really: none of us is perfect. We are all works in progress. The learning must never stop. The moment it does, we will become bored, and as my wife is so fond of saying, "If you're bored, you're boring!" Remember what has been echoed often throughout this year: life, like this school, is what you make of it, so take advantage of every opportunity presented to you.
